About Resilience:

Since 1977, Resilience has provided free, confidential support to individuals impacted by domestic and sexual violence in Ottawa and Allegan counties. Every day, people reach out to the 24/7 Help Line seeking safety, support, and resources. Through trauma-informed, empowerment-based programming, Resilience walks alongside survivors as they navigate barriers to leaving violence. Services include a confidential emergency shelter, 24/7 sexual assault forensic exams, trauma therapy for adults and children, support groups, housing support, legal advocacy, and more. Resilience also works to prevent violence through evidence-based programs that challenge harmful stereotypes and promote healthy relationships.
